HER TRUE POSITION

Catholic Church a Friendly Critic of Public School System.

Always Fostered Education of the People to Their Elevation.

Students of College of City of New York Visit the Cathedral.

REV. FATHER DOYLE SPEAKS PLAINLY

A departure from the established order of the College of the City of New York was made Saturday when the members of the graduating class went to a Roman Catholic church to listen to a baccalaureate address by a priest. St. Patrick's Cathedral was the church, and the Rev. Alexander P. Doyle of the Paulist Fathers was the speaker. At 10:30 in the morning the 204 young men of the graduating class marched into the Cathedral and took seats on either side of the main aisle, which had been set apart for them. Already an audience of relatives and friends which fairly filled the body of the Cathedral had assembled.

The occasion was an unusual one and had been brought about in this way: A committee from the college called upon Father Doyle several weeks ago and invited him to deliver the baccalaureate address to the class of '02. He accepted the invitation on the condition that the exercises might be held in the Cathedral and with Archbishop Corrigan's consent. The matter was then laid before Father Michael J. Lavelle, rector of the Cathedral, who placed it before the late Archbishop. Archbishop Corrigan consented readily and expressed his approval of the plan. He would have been an interested listener yesterday had he been alive. In the course of his address Father Doyle explained the attitude of the Roman Catholic church toward the public school system. He said in part:

It is both a pleasure and a duty that is conferred on me this morning. It is a pleasure to be invited to deliver the first baccalaureate sermon to the young gentlemen of the College of the City of New York from the pulpit of the Catholic cathedral church of this city. It is my duty to say to you some words that will so touch your hearts at this auspicious time, as you are casting aside the trammels of the schoolroom and facing the larger liberties of life, that they will help to make you better men, more keenly appreciative of the responsibilities of life and more eager in the attainment of the high purposes which your training and education have established within your hearts. If there be any special significance in your gathering beneath the arches of this great cathedral and under the auspices of the great Catholic church it is the reiteration and reaffirmation of a principle so very well known by the world at large, and yet, at times, being grudgingly admitted, and sometimes even denied by some of our professional educators—it is the profound and practical sympathy the Catholic church possesses for the great educational agencies of the world.

The Catholic church has assumed a critical aspect toward the public school system in these United States, though not a hostile one. I would have you mark the striking difference between these words. It is the privilege of friends to criticize, it is the part of enemies to antagonize. What the public school system stands for, that is a system of education whereby all the children of the common people may enjoy the opportunities of intellectual development; this principle the Catholic church does now maintain, and has always maintained as a vital principle of her policy among the nations of the earth. By her teachings she bans ignorance and illiteracy and places them in the category of things that degenerate and brutalize, while on the other hand she makes adequate knowledge a stepping-stone to the vestibule of the temple of faith. No one may enter there unless he has passed over this royal road and climbed the mystic way and is able to stand a test of the knowledge that the laws of the church provide. The attitude of the Catholic church toward education is summed up in the following statement: As man is a being composed of body, mind and conscience, a sound system of education, to do its best work, must endeavor to develop all three with equal effort. If it does not, if it neglects one or the other, it creates a one-sided being, and as a tree that grows on one side can not stand the stress of the storm, the product of a one-sided education does not make the material of which lasting republics are built.

The Catholic church does commend the public school system and is not in any sense hostile to its highest purposes, but it takes the liberty to say, as is the right of every one who lives in this land, it does not go far enough when it bans the idea of soul, when it bars the concept of God, when it excludes the training of the highest nature man has. In assuming this critical attitude the church is no more hostile to the public schools as a system of popular education than were the millions of devoted soldiers who fought and bled for the Constitution of the United States might be so amended that every one in this broad land may enjoy the right of manhood and suffrage, no matter what his race or origin or his previous condition of servitude. And we believe the day is not far distant when the great men of our country, who have the highest interests at heart, will turn their attention to the solution of this great problem. The gathering under these auspices this morning will affirm our sympathy with the great educational agencies of the country, and will hasten the day when they will reach their highest perfection.

HIBERNIAN JUBILATION.

Five Divisions Will Witness the Initiation Thursday Night.

The union initiation under the auspices of Division 2, A. O. H., next Thursday night has aroused the greatest interest among the members of that order in the Falls Cities, and it is expected that Hibernian Hall will be taxed to its utmost capacity. President Meehan and John T. Keane, Thomas Conway, James Welch and Martin Minogue have made ample arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the big crowd that will attend. It is expected that at least forty candidates will present themselves for the four degrees. When this work is completed a social session and good time for all will follow.

President Will Meehan visited Jeffersonville Tuesday evening and was met by Barney Coll, Jack Murphy, John Gleason and Martin Fogarty and given a good time. Division 1 of that city accepted his invitation and will attend in a body with twelve candidates, among the number being Edward Sweeney, one of the most influential Irishmen in Jeffersonville. At the meeting it was voted to participate in the Jeffersonville centennial celebration Monday, and the division will doubtless make a fine appearance. The news of the action of the city fathers, creating a new ward and electing Edward Kehoe member of the City Council, aroused the greatest enthusiasm and Messrs. Barney Coll, Jack Murphy & Co., celebrated for several hours after the adjournment.

This initiation will be a jubilee affair, and should be attended by every Hibernian in Louisville, Jeffersonville and New Albany. Owing to circumstances over which he had no control President Meehan was unable to visit Division 1 of New Albany, but he wishes to extend the Hibernians of that city a cordial invitation to come over and participate in the jubilation. The two degree teams will meet Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the hall to arrange new features and receive final instructions for this big event.

SISTER MARY MARTINA.

Death of Another Pioneer Nun at Ursuline Convent.

Another of the devoted band of Ursuline Nuns brought to this city nearly half a century ago by Bishop Martin J. Spalding passed away Sunday at the convent at Shelby and Chestnut streets. Sister Mary Martina was one of the best known and beloved Sisters of her order, and for forty-one years she had been teaching here, being one of the original number that came to Louisville from Bavaria. Sister Mary in the world was Miss Frances Greiner. Many men and women owe much of their success in life to the careful training received from her, and by children she was revered and loved. Her funeral took place from the convent chapel, the remains being interred in St. Michael's cemetery. Sister Mary Martina was sixty-four years old, but notwithstanding her age was active to the end of her noble and holy life.

GIVEN DUTCH SURPRISE.

Thursday evening a number of lady and gentlemen friends of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Bryan surprised them at their home on East Breckinridge street. The feature was an elegant Dutch supper, there being an abundance of everything pertaining to the "old Dutch." The scene was an original and novel one when the guests arrived, all attired in true Dutch style, representing nobility and peasantry, the amiable hostess exclaiming in surprise: "For goodness sake, Miles, who and what are these people?" After singing, dancing and speech-making all partook of the palatable and inviting feast spread before them. The health of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan was drunk standing, all wishing them a long continuance of their happy life. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Allan of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Meehan, Mrs. K. C. Costigan, Misses Eddie, Sallie, Katherine and Annie Meehan, James Meehan and others.

JOINS THE NAVY.

Thaddeus A. Peake, of 1706 Magazine street, a young man well known in this city and for a time with the Henry Vogt Machine Company, enlisted from here in the navy as a yeoman. He left Saturday for Brooklyn, where he will for the present be stationed on the Columbia. Yeoman Peake is the son of Robert E. and Mary J. Peake. His host of friends regret his departure, but hope the near future will bring him honors and higher position.

COUNTY BOARD.

Hibernians Decide to Have Outing and Field Day Next August.

The Old Time Irish Sports and Games to Be Pleasing Features.

President Keenan Declared the Order Strongest in Its History.

INVITATION TO NATIONAL PRESIDENT

Field day and Irish sports and games. Thus voted every delegate to a representative meeting of the officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians last Monday night. The subject of the annual celebration and reunion of the order was brought forward at the previous meeting and referred to the five Presidents, with instructions to report as soon as possible. Expectation of this report brought out a large attendance, which was very gratifying to President Keenan and Messrs. Tom Dolan, John Hennessy, Will Meehan and Pat Sullivan. After the transaction of some routine business the report of the committee was received and submitted for discussion. They recommended a reunion and outing at Fern Grove during the month of August, the exact date to be determined later. But it will be given at a time that visitors and delegates to the State convention may attend.

Upon motion unanimously adopted the committee was given full power to make such arrangements as they deemed best for an old-fashioned field day, the feature of which would be the athletic games and sports of the Emerald Isle. Speeches favoring the foregoing suggestions were made by Messrs. Joe McGinn, State Secretary James Coleman, George J. Butler, Lawrence Mackey, Tom Quinn, Pat Welch, Richard J. Daniel and others. As soon as the date has been determined the County President will call another meeting of all the division officers and the appointment of committees will be announced. This decision of the County Board will receive the support of all Irish-Americans, and this year's reunion and field day should bring out the greatest attendance of any event in the history of the order. State Secretary Coleman is already in correspondence with the leading Irish-American athletic clubs of the country, and an excellent programme will be presented. The board by unanimous vote decided not to allow any intoxicants sold that day on the boat or grounds.

County Delegate Keenan, who will represent the four Louisville divisions and the Knights at the national convention at Denver next month, was authorized to extend an invitation to the National President to be the guest of the Louisville Hibernians next St. Patrick's day. Ever since President Keating's visit two years ago there has been an almost universal wish to again hear him, and if he accepts the invitation it is the intention to secure the Auditorium for his reception.

William Meehan, President of Division 2, and a committee were instructed to visit Jeffersonville and invite the division of that city to the big initiation on June 26. It was announced that large numbers from New Albany would also be present. The degree teams are making special preparations for this event, and we learn they expect to introduce new features that will pleasantly surprise all who have witnessed their past work.

Before the meeting adjourned President Keenan congratulated the delegates on the work of the evening. Never before, he said, was there such harmony and unity as exists now in the County Board. The Hibernians of Louisville are now awake and doing much to increase the strength of the order. The report for Jefferson county would compare with that of any other of its size in the country, and when the national convention was held it would be discovered that the order was enjoying a steady and substantial growth.

Large numbers not members of the order have expressed their hearty approval of the action taken by the County Board, and with fair weather there should be a much larger crowd than that which gathered last year at the Elks' carnival on Irish-American day.

RETURNS TO IRELAND.

Lawrence Wrenn, well known in local Irish-American circles and for several years a popular railroad employee, left Thursday for New York, and will sail today for his old home at Abbeylea, County Limerick. He goes to look after personal interests there, and it is not probable that he will again leave the Emerald Isle.

CHILD LABOR.

Under the new law children under fourteen years of age can not be employed in factories or workshops without permits from the County Judge. If this law is strictly enforced it will give employment to many men now idle and enable these little ones to obtain something of an education. Forcing little boys and girls to do manual labor at such a tender age prevents their growth and development and unfits them for the battle of life long before they reach the age of manhood and womanhood. Judge Gregory and County Attorney Kirby should exercise great care in the granting of permits, otherwise they will render the law invalid.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Important Matters Discussed at Meeting of Central Committee.

There were only a few delegates absent when President Veeneman called to order the monthly meeting of the Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America at St. Mary's Hall. It was a business meeting from start to finish, and a splendid example was set for the branches. The proposed change in the laws making officers ineligible after two terms was defeated. This was a nice compliment to Messrs. Veeneman, McGinn, Score and Rapp, whose efficient work has done much to bring the Central Committee to its present powerful standing.

Jack Murphy and Jonathan Thickstun, delegates from Jeffersonville, invited the committee and all branches to the centennial celebration over the river Monday. Chairman McGinn's report, while not complete, showed the jubilee celebration to have been a satisfactory financial success.

Supreme Trustee Smith, who had just returned from the meeting of the Board of Trustees at St. Louis, gave a synopsis of the proceedings of that body. He also made a forceful and eloquent talk for the disability fund, which is meeting with increased favor everywhere.

The contest for prizes for members was extended till September, and the suggestion of President Reibert to create a uniform rank was made a special order for the next meeting.

John Fackler said he wanted to keep the ball rolling, and in an eloquent but short speech advocated an excursion and day of pleasure for the Catholic Knights and their friends. His remarks aroused enthusiasm, and the motion was unanimously adopted. President Veeneman appointed the following gentlemen a committee to devise ways and means for the proposed excursion: Messrs. John Fackler, Michael Reichert, Jonathan Thickstun, John Schald, James O'Connell, Ben Geher and Joe McGinn.

The chairman announced that those delegates who missed three successive meetings would be reported to their branches. Regular attendance is required from all, otherwise their names will be dropped.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Drewry Law Increasing Pay of Firemen Can Not Be Enforced.

The Drewry act passed by the last Legislature, creating a fireman's pension fund and increasing the pay of those receiving the largest salaries, has been declared unconstitutional insofar as it relates to the latter, and City Attorney Stone says the law can not be enforced. According to a recent decision of the Court of Appeals only the General Council has the right to fix the salaries of members of the fire department. The Drewry act provided for an increase in the pay-roll of $8,073 a year, distributed among the officers from Captain to Chief, giving the latter an additional $1,000 per year, but none of the $8,000 was to go to the six or seven other members of the companies. There was quite a feeling at the time because of this discrimination, and many hoped the law would be knocked out therefor.

Col. Stone is of opinion that the part relating to pensions will stand, and that the General Council may enact the law increasing salaries, but when this is attempted a more equitable distribution must certainly be made to secure its passage. It is intimated that an ordinance will soon be introduced providing for the pay as in the Drewry act, but unless all members of the department are recognized an earnest effort will be made to secure its defeat. It is about time the men who run the greatest risks and do the real work at fires are given some recognition.

UNFOUNDED.

The rumor that Hugh J. Higgins, son of the publisher of the Kentucky Irish American, had joined the navy, was without any foundation whatever. Its author has not been discovered, which gives it the semblance of a poor joke. The young man feels perfectly satisfied with his present position and says Kentucky has too many attractions for him to think of leaving.

FISH BIT WELL.

John E. Browne, the well known Zane-street grocer, and Peter Traeger, a popular employee of the molding department of the Louisville & Nashville, have been spending several days at the fishing resorts in Indiana. Word received from them Friday morning was to the effect that the funny tribe was plentiful and bit well. They will arrive home today with an abundance of fish for their friends. Both are considered the luckiest fishermen about the Falls Cities. They never return without a good catch, which is generously distributed among their friends.

SURPRISED

Were Members of Mackin and Trinity Councils Monday Night.

Visit New Albany and Given Trolley Ride, Reception and Supper.

Spend a Pleasant and Profitable Evening With Unity Council.

WELCOMED BY REVEREND CHAPLAIN

Members of Mackin and Trinity Councils, Y. M. I., to the number of about 150 visited Unity Council in New Albany last Monday night, and the hearty and cordial reception given them by their New Albany brethren will long be a pleasant memory. Upon the arrival of the visitors at the Vincennes-street station they were met by a committee from Unity and conducted to cars, several of which had been chartered, and given a delightful trolley ride around the city. Arriving at the hall of Unity Council on Ninth street a most agreeable surprise awaited the visitors. The hall was thronged with members, who had just completed their business and gone into social session. When all had been comfortably seated President Charles Clever introduced Rev. Father Unterreitmeier, Chaplain of Unity Council, who made a neat and well received address of welcome. His remarks were complimentary of Unity Council and the Young Men's Institute, which is now every where recognized as one of the most beneficial of our present Catholic fraternal and social organizations. Upon the conclusion of his remarks all were invited to partake of a bounteous feast, to which ample justice was done. There was an abundance of everything good to eat and drink, and when all had been satisfied the session reconvened for an hour or two of short and impromptu talks. After the cigars had been passed around there were calls for President Piazza of Trinity, Emmet Slattery, Tom Garvey, Ben Hund, David O'Connell, Frank Lenz, Grand Secretary George Lantz, Gus Weber, Robert L. Fisher, Eugene J. Cooney, Dr. Phil Beutel, Jr., John J. Sullivan, Joseph Conkling and R. L. Zook, all of whom made felicitous responses. Dave O'Connell and Joe Piazza dwelt at some length on the principles of the Young Men's Institute and the benefits gained by membership therein and congratulated their New Albany brethren on their splendid showing, which was not equaled by any other council in Indiana. All the speakers were complimentary of the Hoosier council, and both Trinity and Mackin promised them a good time if they would only come over on this side of the river, giving them assurance there was no quarantine in Kentucky against the Y. M. I.

President Cheap, Theodore Moritz and Ben Gildehaus made short but interesting talks for Unity Council. They were greatly pleased to receive their Louisville brethren, and promised to accept the invitations extended them after the assurance of Brother Zook that there were neither doors nor latchstrings on Mackin or Trinity.

Charley Hackett, known as the "Main Squeeze of the Zephyrs," made the hit of the evening. He told how by push and energy, and encouraged by their worthy Chaplain, Unity Council had during the last three months increased in membership from sixty-eight to 275. This statement brought forth a storm of applause that lasted several minutes. The good work, he said, was being continued, and every month that had its fifth Wednesday there was a jollification under the auspices of the Zephyrs that was most enjoyable. After congratulating the officers and members for their efforts he extended the visitors a standing invitation to visit Unity Council.

All the time the speaking was going on there was a steady flow of refreshments. The reception committee was kept busy serving from a bounteous supply of everything in the eating and drinking line, and not until the hour for catching the last train did the festivities cease. Frank Lenz, the German professor, added much to the pleasure of the trip by his witticisms. On the return trip all were singing the praises of Unity Council, and when they visit Louisville they will be given a sure enough sample of Kentucky hospitality. These visits can not be made too often, as they are productive of only gratifying results and considerable valuable instruction.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

The pupils of St. John's parochial school will hold their closing exercises at the school hall next Thursday evening. An exceptionally fine programme has been arranged and its rendition will prove much more interesting and pleasing to parents than any that has preceded it. There will be class songs by boys and girls, a one-act farce by W. J. Peters and R. J. Sweeney, Egan's little drama, "The Soldier's Pardon," and a play entitled "The Heroines of the Past," introducing the young ladies of the school, who have given earnest study to their parts. The principal characters will be taken by Misses Bertha Droppelman and Mary Schuman, two of the brightest girls in the school. Among the characters appearing in this beautiful play are the mother of Washington, Joan of Arc, Mary Stuart, Marie Antoinette, St. Agnes, Princess Borghese, Angel, Tempter, Spirits, daughters and graduates. The others who will appear to advantage in this are Misses Agnes Connelly, Rose Hemmerle, Mary Leahy, Belle Bowling, Ellen Gray, Nellie McDonald, Catherine Moellman, Mary Burke, Ella Akers and Louise Meriwether. All are pretty girls, and in their handsome costumes will present a scene of beauty that will recall the days gone by. Those who expect a pleasing entertainment will not be disappointed.

AFTER THEIR BOOKS.

Irish-American Society Prepares For an Active Future.

At a fairly attended meeting of the Irish-American Society on Thursday night action was taken that should be the means of arousing a lively interest in this organization among the thousands who ought to be members. President John Flynn occupied the chair and added much to his reputation as an impartial and able presiding officer.

After an interesting discussion, participated in by Messrs. James Welch, Thomas Conway, Will Lawler, Thomas Walsh, M. W. Murphy, Martin Minogue and others, resolutions were adopted calling upon all members to be present with their books at the meeting to be held July 17, when it is proposed to make the annual July settlement and start afresh. Those who do not respond to the notification are liable to suspension, therefore a large attendance is looked for. Quite a number of members have absented themselves from meetings for some time past, and an effort will be made to bring them back, and also to arrange a programme for the fall and winter months that will be interesting and amusing.

As many members expect to leave the city for the Fourth of July it was decided to adjourn over until Thursday, July 17. Those who have been depending upon the officers are expected to attend more regularly after that date and assist them with the work of the society.

MERRY EUCHRE PARTY.

Young Men's Institute Entertain Friends at Phoenix Hill.

The merriest euchre party of the season was entertained at Phoenix Hill last Wednesday night by the three councils of the Young Men's Institute. The games were played in the pavilion, while Prof. Scally discoursed sweet music in the dancing hall for those who preferred to trip the light fantastic. All present spent a most enjoyable evening and expressed themselves delighted with the treatment received. Following are the names of the lucky prize winners: Miss Ophelia Steimle, Mrs. Louis F. Schuler, Mrs. Kohlmann, Mrs. William T. Boden, Miss Lillian Keiran, Mrs. Frank Wolf, Mrs. G. M. Conroy, Messrs. Frank Kunz, E. Schmitt, Nicholas Pontrich, Joseph Weimer, Frank A. Lenz and George Christ.

A handsome sum was realized and will be added to the fund required for the furnishing of the Y. M. I. ward in St. Anthony's Hospital. The committee in charge of the euchre was composed of the following gentlemen:

Trinity—Henry F. Stoerr, Ben Hund, J. C. Kirchdorfer.
Mackin—Frank Murphy, George J. Lantz, William Kerberg.
Satoli—John J. Crotty, L. P. Cameron, Will Perry.

AFTERNOON OF PLEASURE.

The members of Branch 25, Catholic Knights of America, and their friends will enjoy a delightful trip up the river Monday afternoon. A committee has chartered the Sunshine and made every arrangement for a jolly good time. The Aeolian Glee Club, that made such a hit at the jubilee, will also accompany the excursionists and render a number of their choicest selections. Branch 25 is now on the boom, and is greatly indebted to the State Spiritual Director, the Very Rev. Father Box, pastor of St. John's, for its present prosperity. The boat will leave at 1:30, and returning will enable excursionists to witness the Jeffersonville centennial fireworks on the river. It is to be sincerely hoped that President Albert Martin will be well enough to be with the large crowd that is going.

Frank Baron will have something new and novel in the phonograph line for this occasion, not heard here before.

CATHEDRAL OUTING.

Riverview Park has been secured for this year's outing of the Cathedral congregation, which will take place July 23. A notable feature will be the monster euchre being arranged for by Mrs. Dave Welch and Mrs. Larry Gatto, to win the largest number of prizes ever offered in Louisville, many of them of great value, will be distributed among the players. This will be only one of the many features of what should be the most successful outing ever given by the ladies of the Cathedral. Watch these columns for further announcements.

BEST OF YEAR.

Happy Commencement Exercises at Presentation Academy.

Essays of Graduates Showed Great Care and Deep Thought.

The Pupils Acquitted Themselves in Creditable Manner.

ACADEMY ADMIRER BY ITS FRIENDS

The annual commencement exercises of the Presentation Academy were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The programme was the best of the year and surpassed any that have come to our notice.

All the pupils acquitted themselves very creditably and displayed to advantage the skill and untiring patience which is conscientiously employed in their training. The piano pieces and songs in particular gave evidence of the elevated taste of those who selected them, and the rendition of the same by the pupils speaks for the excellent training they received. The opening chorus, "Dancing O'er the Waves," was a light, dainty composition, the title of which was most appropriate. This was followed by an animated sea song, "Out on the Foam Crested Billows," and both were admirably sung by the senior vocal class, Miss Kelly's solo, "I Hear Thee, Grand Ocean," was quite a difficult selection, but she managed her voice well and her song was much appreciated by the audience. The violin solo by Miss Imelda Shea was remarkably well played for a young lady of her years. She evinces great talent.

Special credit should be given also to Master Paul Doherty, accompanist, for the primary singing class. His touch is splendid and his phrasing proves him exceptionally gifted. Little Miss Ethel Bitzer recited "The Wreck" with great expression and gestures of the utmost grace.

"Murmuring Waves," a lovely vocal solo, was artistically rendered by Miss Katherine McClusky. Her voice is sweet and of excellent quality. The music given by the "Presentation Band" was one of the most enjoyable numbers on the programme. "Peer-Gynt Suite," a vocal solo by Herbert Eckert, with piano accompaniment by Miss Martina Bosche, was played in a most praiseworthy manner and revealed that these two young musicians possess no ordinary degree of talent.

The graduates were Misses Lizzie M. Strohmeier, M. Olivia Kelly, Lee McClusky and Sadie C. Doyle. The theme of their essays being the ocean, all the songs and recitations were of a marine class. Miss Strohmeier's essay, "The Ocean Displays the Immensity of God," which was first on the programme, manifested great care and thought in its composition and was read by her in a manner to elicit the genuine approval of the audience. Miss Lee McClusky came next. Her essay upon the "Usefulness of the Sea" won much admiration and was thoroughly enjoyed. Little Miss Lizzie O'Brien then recited an uncommonly beautiful piece, "The Chambered Nautilus," in a style most appropriate for the occasion.

"The Sea Hath Its Treasures," essay third, by Miss M. Olivia Kelly, held the close attention of the assembly and was delivered with splendid elocutionary power. The fourth and last essay, "The Ocean in Mythology and Literature," by Miss Sadie C. Doyle, was followed by the distribution of medals and certificates, after which Lambillotte's magnificent "O Cor Amor's Victim" was beautifully sung by the school, with violin and piano accompaniment.

The Right Reverend Bishop was so kind as to attend the commencement and at the conclusion gave pleasure to all by an address which, as usual, was made in that elegant, fitting style peculiarly his own. The kind Sisters, according to their hospitable custom, served a delicious banquet to the clergy and the visitors had every courtesy and attention showered on them. The handsome academy was greatly admired, as was also the exquisite new statue described lately in these columns. Adorned with fragrant blossoms and encircled with an arch of brilliancy, it presented a vision of glory and shed a resplendent light through the long corridor and stately entrance.

The art room was another scene of beauty and richness. The hand-painted walls, representing the "Four Seasons," the work of Sister Julia, the art instructor, drew profuse praise from every one, while the drawing, painting, needlework and test papers of the pupils were deemed of the highest excellence.

The day was delightful in every respect, and the pleased comments and complete approval of the visitors bids fair for an increased patronage in September, the first Monday of which month the academy reopens.

OUR "FRIEND" STILL AT IT.

The London villifiers are still after Gov. Taft and the Vatican in Rome. Besides sending false reports to the English and American papers, they are also publishing falsehoods in the Italian papers in Rome. Gov. Taft last week notified the Pope that an interview, purporting to come from him, published in a Rome paper, was wholly untrue, as he had given no interview or statement whatever for publication, and would not do so.

The object of Gov. Taft's mission—the settlement of the status of the church and church property in the Philippines—was officially announced from Washington. He is in Rome, has been received at the Vatican, and the matter is under negotiation, being referred to a special commission of Cardinals. This is all that is known, or is likely to be known, till a decision is reached, or at least till Gov. Taft reports to Washington and the Government gives it to the public. The Vatican authorities will pursue the same course. Diplomatic negotiations are not public, not reported, discussed nor settled by newspaper gossip, and are generally considered nobody's business but those concerned.

Notwithstanding these well known facts the London correspondents in Rome would have the world believe everything is known to them, and publish statements so glaringly false as to be absurd, having not even a semblance of plausibility. Thus a dispatch says that the Cardinals' commission (ten days after appointment) have decided, with one dissenting vote, to reject the American proposition, and insist on maintaining church affairs and property in the Philippines as under Spanish rule, and will so recommend to the Pope. Later it is reported the Cardinals' commission favor acceptance of the American proposition, and the church lands will be sold to the United States Government, but the Pope hesitates because the religious orders holding the lands object to the sale and may resist by court proceedings in Manila unless guaranteed prompt payment and a fair division of the proceeds among the respective orders. And so on, like improbable and contradictory statements are sent out daily.

All these reports may be safely classed as untrue, and only reveal the bigotry, envy and bungling prevarication of the London press, so unreasonable and incredible that it reacts as a boomerang. The questions under negotiation are grave and important, involving equity, authority, values, property and the lives and morals of millions of people. They can not be decided hurriedly; will require investigation, research, conference and serious consideration, for perhaps years. The United States and the Vatican are doubtless fully competent to attend to it satisfactorily, and both seem disposed to do so, regardless of suggestions and interference from London.

ENGLISH "PROGRESS."

The tenacity with which the English adhere to old customs and methods, and which their egotism causes them to regard as the only right way, is becoming more generally known. It is undoubtedly the cause of England's dropping behind in this progressive age, and often is so ridiculous as to make them the butt of ridicule, as will be fully illustrated by the ancient but now useless and meaningless titles, officials, functions and mun-meries of the coronation. But they will stick to it with all the care and precision of their ancestors, just as they do in everything else, business included.

Illustrative of this is a ceremonial in Parliament. As a member enters the House of Commons he bows reverently three times toward the opposite end of the room. One would naturally suppose he was bowing to the Speaker and officials; but they may not be present, and when they enter each likewise bows reverently three times. The inquisitive American always wants to know the why and whereof of everything. So when an American saw this bowing to nothing he started inquiry as to what it meant. Not a member of Parliament he asked could enlighten him. He finally traced it down through several centuries and found what it meant—then.

At that time England was Catholic, the functions of State and Church were united in Government ceremonies and administration, and the meetings of Parliament were held at night in the Cathedral. Of course there was an altar; on one side was a throne for the King, who then usually attended meetings of Parliament; on the other side was the throne of the Bishop, representing the church, who also attended. On entering the Parliamentary hall—the church—the members bowed reverently three times—to the altar, the King, the Bishop.

Times and everything with them have changed in these several hundred years. England is no longer Catholic; the King does not attend Parliament; the Bishop of London, even of the established church, is only a peer of the realm; Parliament now meets in a Government hall—not a church—in which there is no altar, and finally Catholic forms of worship are classed by English law as idolatrous. But it is ancient custom, and every member of Parliament on entering the hall bows reverently three times—to nothing.

AFTER THE WAR IS OVER.

The peace jubiliations in England have been followed with disappointment and disgust. The war is ended and the Boers are surrendering all right, but the expected business boom does not materialize. On the contrary, the really desperate strait of English affairs is becoming manifest at home. Trade is depressed and industries idle for want of markets; losses have been heavy, debt hampers all; money is scarce and interest rates high; taxes high and will be higher, which deters business ventures to increase trade. Stocks and bonds are lower than for twenty years, the market is controlled by speculators and brokers, who are anxious to start a boom and unload, but fear to advance prices to do so lest foreign holders flood the market, depress values further and perhaps buy controlling interests, and thus Englishmen lose financially as well as the management of corporations.

Berlin capitalists holding Kafir stock—the most valuable mines in South Africa before the Boer war—are reported watching the London market closely to take advantage of one or the other opportunity, either of which means disaster to English interests. The profit earning as well as the solvency of English corporations are subjects of surmise, which neither enhances their value, strengthens their credit nor encourages the trade outlook. Add to this the well known fact that money is short with the Government and people as well; consols at a discount and more must be issued; nearly all corporations and business firms in debt and still borrowing, the Bank of England loans to "the market" last week reaching $15,000,000; heavy taxes and more in prospect; and the foundation of it all, from which alone recuperation can come, a depressed, harassed and losing trade, that must be revived, pushed, extended to meet strong and successful competition already encroaching upon and crowding it. This will require hustle, new methods and money—and where is the money to come from? Not from England, that is certain.

The realization of this dilemma causes the disappointment since the hopes of the results of peace vanished, leaving only gloom and the fear growing that England's trade is doomed, or that its control and profits will pass to others. The presence in England at this time of American, German and French capitalists, or their agents, representing nearly every branch of finance, commerce and industry, is not to be accounted for by the approaching coronation ceremonies, in which they seem to take only ordinary interest. They all evince knowledge and seem to be taking inventories of English financial, mercantile, industrial, railroad and shipping matters. As they are all known to have or represent money, and reputed as not averse to buying up bargains, they are regarded with apprehension, giving rise to rumors of dickers and deals for the sale of almost anything but the empire as a whole.

LADIES FIRST.

The politeness of Americans toward women is proverbial the world over, and neither custom nor regulations in foreign countries cause a diversion. An instance attracting attention occurred recently in London. In all countries under modern treaties the premises of the representative of a foreign government are regarded as territory of his country, subject to its jurisdiction.

Ambassador Choate gave a banquet at the American legation at which the King, Queen and Government notables were guests. In England royalty always comes first—the King. Entering the banquet hall, Ambassador Choate came first, escorting the Queen; King Edward with Mrs. Choate, then others in order. This apparent breach of etiquette and disrespect to the King caused whispers and looks of astonishment and indignation by most of the notables as they came in. Mr. Choate, noticing the confusion, bowed to the King, saying, "Ladies first, sir, in America." The Queen added, "Exactly so, and as this house is American territory, I insist upon my rights." The King bowed graciously, and later during the feast laughed heartily at several of his noble subjects who seemed horrified and cast angry glances at Mr. Choate for his "insult to his Majesty."

England can not even win a horse race nowadays. Sceptre, the English entry in the Paris Grand Prix, came last, and the English sports of high and low degree, who plunged heavily on the race—there are a few fellows here at home who can guess the fate, feelings and ejaculations of those English sports in Paris.

HAGAN'S NOMINATION CERTAIN.

The friends of Hon. Frank Hagan, candidate for the Democratic nomination to succeed Judge Matt O'Doherty, are highly elated over the favor with which the news given last week was received. They are confident that he will win the nomination. Still they are anxious that all their friends attend the mass conventions next Saturday and select delegates that will vote for their choice. Hundreds have been heard to express the opinion that Mr. Hagan is the man for the place, and his managers are receiving assurances of support from all quarters. Mr. Hagan is conducting a clean and honorable canvass, and it seems the masses are with him. This is only just and right, and will constitute a proper recognition of his past services to the Democratic party, for which he has been a valiant and untiring fighter. The only regret is that he is not given the nomination without opposition.

The greater the sorrow you hide the greater yourself.

SOCIETY.

Mrs. Luther Butler is visiting friends at Smith's Grove.

Miss Mamie Gardner left Monday for Bardstown, to visit Miss Lily Thurman.

Rev. Father Juste, of St. Louis Bertrand's church, left Wednesday for New York City.

Mrs. John Elam is home from Henderson, where she visited her mother, Mrs. Ezra Ward.

Miss Mary Tyler has arrived home from Frankfort, where she visited Miss Rebecca Johnston.

Miss Kate Kernan has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Nugent, at Lexington, for the past ten days.

Miss Mayme McGonigle has returned from a pleasant visit with Mrs. Robert Kennedy at Bardstown.

Miss Virginia Atkins, who arrived last week to visit friends in this city, has returned to her home at Henderson.

Prof. John M. Cooney, of Notre Dame University, Ind., will be in town next week to visit friends and relatives.

Miss Mary Lyons was the recipient of much social attention while at Lawrenceburg, where she visited Miss Martha Jones.

Miss Mabel Bell has been enjoying a delightful visit with Mrs. Elizabeth Keegan at Hopkinsville. She is expected home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Dawson, who have been spending two weeks at New Haven with their parents and other friends, are expected here today.

Mrs. James C. Brennan and children have been visiting in Frankfort, where they were the guests of Mrs. Brennan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Newman, Sr.

The condition of John J. Barrett has so much improved that he was able to go out riding. His numerous friends are rejoiced that his entire recovery is now certain.

Miss Mayme Geary, of Lexington, spent Wednesday with friends in this city. She was en route to Nazareth to attend the alumnae meeting held there Thursday.

Miss Josie Monahan, of West Madison street, and Mrs. George Martin and Miss Maggie Welch, of Pope street, attended the commencement exercises at Nazareth on Thursday.

Among the fair visitors here from Frankfort last week were Miss Lollie Starling, who was with Mrs. R. A. Peter, and Miss Mary Hoge, the guest of Miss Lucinda Trabue.

Mrs. Margaret Devereaux and Miss Anna C. Moran returned Friday evening from Nazareth, where they attended the commencement exercises at the famous Catholic college located there.

Miss Ailene Herr had as her guests this week Misses Mary Lewis, Virginia Watkins and Arabella Walden, three of Owensboro's most popular society girls. They will remain until next week.

The Very Rev. Father Felix Ward, of the Sacred Heart Retreat, in company with Right Rev. Edmund Obrecht, Abbot of Gethsemani, last week visited Very Rev. Father Buckman in Nelson county.

Miss Mary Duffy, who has been the guest of Miss Fay Duffy in Jeffersonville, left Thursday for her home in Cincinnati. During her visit she received much social attention, and her new made friends hope she may soon return.

Miss Edna Hannon, who has been quite ill of malarial fever at her home, 1313 Locust street, New Albany, is reported greatly improved within the past few days. She has many friends in this city to whom this will be welcome news.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor O'Bryan and James McLoughlin was solemnized Tuesday. Both are well known and highly respected residents of the West End, and a large number of their friends assembled to witness the happy ceremony.

John Meagher, of Frankfort, was here Tuesday, en route to the closing exercises at St. Mary's and Nazareth Academies. His daughter, Miss Cecilia, is a pupil at the last named, and his son Edmund has been pursuing his studies at St. Mary's.

Mrs. Anna Rudd Taylor, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Col. Ludwell Alexander, of this city, left Wednesday to spend a few days at Nazareth and attend the commencement exercises. Mrs. Alexander is one of the oldest living graduates of that old institution.

Frank Maguire, a young New Albanian, arrived home this week from Fort Riley, Kansas, where he was in the United States cavalry service. Since entering the army he sustained disabilities which unfitted him for further service, and he was therefore given an honorable discharge.

Miss Mary Hackett, the pretty and accomplished daughter of Conductor Mike Hackett, of New Albany, was graduated this week from St. Mary's of the Woods Academy, near Terre Haute, Ind. Miss Hackett entered St. Mary's after finishing the course at Holy Trinity last year, where she took high honors.

Cards have been issued for the marriage of Miss Celia Gathoff, the amiable and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gathoff, 1513 West Madison street, to Frank Klipes, a well known and popular young man holding a good position with the National Casket Company. The ceremony will take place at St. Mary's church next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, with Rev. Father Westerman officiating. Both bride and groom have a wide circle of friends, large numbers of whom will witness their union.

Albert F. Martin's friends will regret to learn that he is still confined to his home, suffering from a very sore hand, resulting from a slight bruise. But little attention was paid the injury until it became quite painful. Now the hand has become greatly swollen and the last report was that another operation might be necessary.

Rev. Father Welch, former pastor at the Catholic church here, but now the assistant at St. John's in Louisville, was here Wednesday renewing his old acquaintances. Father Welch has many warm friends in Nelson county who are always glad to see him. While here he was the guest of the Very Rev. Father Buckman. [New Haven Echo.]

A most enjoyable invitation party and dance was given by the Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Council at Fountain Ferry Park on Wednesday evening. There was a large number of young people present from all parts of the city, and they were given a cordial reception by the ladies and their gentlemen friends. The dancing lasted until after midnight and light refreshments were served. This will be their last dance until next fall.

The up-the-river moonlight excursion given Monday evening by the Satolli Glee Club was a delightful social affair and was enjoyed by a large crowd. The members who conduct these excursions are Messrs. Will Perry, Ben Mattingly, George Kilcourse, George Perry, Harry Colgan, Lee Pfeiffer, Charles Fedler, L. F. Cameron, John Fahy, Joseph Joyce, Will Ross and Edward Aud. Many hope they will soon announce another one.

A wedding in which much interest is taken took place Tuesday afternoon at St. Patrick's, when Miss Rosell Burke became the bride of Walter A. Dorsey. Both are well known and have a host of friends whose best wishes follow them. Immediately after the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father Cronin, the young couple left for Washington and Philadelphia. Upon their return from their honeymoon trip they will be at home to their friends at 126 Wall street, Jeffersonville.

The many admirers of Miss Carrie Swift, whose artistic work as the Gypsy in the recent production of the "Merry Milk Maids" was so highly appreciated, will be delighted to learn that she will again appear with the young ladies of the Choral Society at the St. Louis Charity Club Outing at Riverview Park next Tuesday. Miss Swift is the daughter of John Swift, inspector of boilers for the Louisville & Nashville railroad, and one of the most popular girls in St. Louis Bertrand's parish.

Mrs. Stanley Norris, of San Jose, Cal., and her sister, Mrs. Nell Kelly, of Cincinnati, arrived here Wednesday, and are the guests of Mrs. Charles Erwinne, 2507 Grayson street, with whom they will spend the next few weeks. Both ladies are natives of this city, and their friends are arranging a number of receptions and luncheons in their honor. Mr. Norris may arrive here for a brief stay before his wife's departure. He will be remembered by many as the shoe buyer some years ago for one of Louisville's leading retail houses. Since moving to California he has been remarkably successful, now owning the largest shoe store in San Jose.

Among the many winsome and richly attired young ladies who were graduated Tuesday evening from the Normal School none presented a lovelier appearance than Misses Anna Columbia Moran and Mayme Sullivan, who had to be assisted by their friends in carrying off the beautiful flowers with which they were showered. The friends of both young ladies are highly elated over their fine showing and the honors carried off by them. Miss Moran is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Twelfth and Zane streets, and Miss Sullivan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sullivan, Twenty-fourth street. Accomplished and attractive, both will occupy high positions in their sphere of life.

The most notable of the June weddings in the West End was solemnized Wednesday morning at the Church of Our Lady in Portland, when Miss Katie O'Bryan and James McLoughlin, of Knoxville, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Father Conniff, assisted by Rev. Father Rock, of the Cathedral. Following the ceremony the bride and groom and a number of intimate friends and the officiating clergymen were given an elegant and bounteous wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, after which the couple left on their honeymoon trip. They will make their home at Knoxville, Tenn., where Mr. McLoughlin is in business. And thus the West End loses another of its loveliest and most popular young women.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmuck, 1617 West Chestnut street, gave a delightful reception Tuesday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock to a large number of the friends of their daughter, Miss Josie, who graduated this week from the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy. The evening was devoted to music, singing and an elegant luncheon, presided over by Mrs. Schmuck, who proved herself a most agreeable hostess. Among the invited guests present were Misses Henrietta Kaiser, Marie Heverin, Theresa Girardi, Nell Smith, Florence Hillerich, Josie Burgey, Anna Mayer, Mayme Manning, Lula Mayer, Mary and Hattie Higgins; Messrs. Clifford Lusky, Sebastian Hubbuck, Will Daly, Frank Maas, Will Cassidy, Martin Gobeys, Hugh Higgins and Roy Campbell.

Miss Henrietta Kaiser received many of her friends at her home, 806 Eighth street, Tuesday afternoon. Among those who congratulated her upon her graduation were Misses Josie Schmuck, Theresa Girardi, Marie Heverin, Nell Smith, Mary Higgins, Florence Hillerich, Edna Gorman, Hattie Higgins and Cora Vener, of Chicago; Messrs. Sebastian Hub-buch, Clifford Luskey, Will Cassidy, Frank Maas, Paul Higgins, Will Daly, Roy Campbell, Martin Gobeys, Mr. and Mrs. Zelter, Mrs. Gueert, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Venner. The reception was a delightful one, the parlors being tastefully decorated for the event. A bounteous supper was served by the parents of the fair young graduate, after which a couple of hours were devoted to vocal and instrumental selections and amusements.

RECENT DEATHS.

John and Mary Brennan have the heartfelt sympathy of a wide circle of acquaintances, who were deeply pained to learn of the death of young Richard Brennan, whose soul passed from earth last Monday morning. His funeral took place from the family residence, 2229 Lytle street, Tuesday afternoon, the interment being in St. Louis cemetery.

The many friends and relatives of Michael McCarthy were deeply grieved when they learned of his death Thursday morning. He was the son of Timothy and Bridget McCarthy, and for some years past had been in the employ of the Louisville City Railway Company as electrician. His death occurred at the home of his parents, where he had been tenderly cared for by his wife and relatives, but all to no purpose. The funeral takes place this morning from St. Patrick's church.

The funeral of James Deely, the twenty-year-old son of Mrs. Mary and the late James Deely, occurred Sunday afternoon from the Dominican church, Sixth street. His death is an irreparable loss to his mother, coming as the result of a fall about a year ago from the new Mengel building, Eleventh and Ormsby, and at a time when he could be her mainstay and support. Preceding the funeral large numbers of friends called at the family residence, 1020 West Oak street, to express sympathy for the bereaved mother and relatives.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY.

A pleasing voice is one of the greatest feminine charms. The voice, let it be remembered, does more to characterize a woman favorably or unfavorably than anything else. How beautiful are those lines of Shakespeare where he says: "Her voice was ever soft, gentle and low—an excellent thing in woman." Harsh, uncharitable thoughts lend discordant tones to the speech, and kind, unselfish thoughts impart a natural euphony. The voice unconsciously portrays the loveliness or unloveliness of our lives. Thus the necessity of cultivating high ideals and generous qualities. Beauty must commence way down deep in a woman's heart in order to give her a truly charming personality. Nothing could possibly be more vulgar than an affection in speech. Never cultivate some one else's voice, however desirable it may seem. Cultivate your own instead. Endeavor to acquire well-modulated tones and an easy, correct use of language. Thus you will keep your own individuality, which when beautified will exercise more charm over your speech than any amount of imitation, however clever.

GRADUATING EXERCISES.

Tuesday morning the beautiful hall of the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy on East Broadway was thronged with a brilliant assemblage of friends of that great educational institution to witness the closing exercises and the conferring of honors, medals, crowns and graduation of a number of young ladies. As usual an elaborate and carefully arranged programme was presented, each number being rendered with grace and finish. Rev. Father Rock conferred the honors and made an appropriate and feeling address to the classes. The work of each pupil was of a very high order and showed evidence of the watchful care and training of the Sisters of Mercy, and the large audience was highly delighted with everything they saw.

LEFT FOR THE EAST.

Rev. B. A. Cunningham, pastor of Holy Cross church, this city, left Tuesday for Hazardville, Conn., where he was called on account of the critical illness of his aged uncle, John Cunningham, who since the close of the civil war has held the position of Superintendent of the world famous Hazard powder mills at that place. Father Cunningham was accompanied by his sister, Miss Lizzie, who will spend the summer with relatives and friends in the Eastern States. The former expects to return in about two weeks.

PRIZES FOR PICNIC.

Quite a number of handsome and valuable prizes have been secured for distribution among purchasers of tickets for the picnic for St. Philip Neri's church at Phoenix Hill Park on Monday, June 30. The first prize, a beautiful dining-room set, is now on exhibition at Raffo's furniture store, and the fine Quick Meal gas range, the very best made, can be seen at Geher & Son's, Market street, between Second and Third. The other prizes are almost as valuable.

GETHSEMANI.

Large numbers from this city attended the fifty-first annual commencement at Gethsemani on Thursday. Edward Herrmann, son of Joe, the President of the Sinking Fund, was salutatorian, and he acquitted himself admirably. The principal address was delivered by Judge Frank Daugherty, and an excellent musical programme was rendered by the college band and orchestra.

The following are said to be the last words of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, the Catholic signer of the Declaration of Independence: "I have lived until my ninety-sixth year; I have enjoyed continued health; I have been blessed with wealth, prosperity and most of the good things this world can bestow—public approbation and applause—but what I now look back upon with great satisfaction to myself is that I have practiced the duties of my religion."

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

At the Claremorris quarter sessions before His Honor County Court Judge Dane, K. C., a wholesale batch of processes at the suit of Nolan-Farrell against his tenants for non-payment of rent was heard. Decrees were granted against thirty-four tenants. M. J. Kelly, Crown Solicitor, appeared for the landlord, and T. F. Kerwin, of Ballinrobe, for the tenants.

At the Manorhamilton quarter sessions Wilson Vaughn, Sub-Sheriff of the County Leitrim, presented Judge Waters with white gloves. His Honor congratulated the Sub-Sheriff and the people of that division of the county on its peaceful state. It spoke very well for the character of the inhabitants. This is singularly one of the divisions of the County of Leitrim that is proclaimed.

The Recorder sat recently to dispose of the criminal business and, addressing the Cork grand jury, said: "Last month I had the honor of addressing the grand jury for the Borough of Cork, and then congratulating them on the very small calendar that was before them. Now again I have the honor of presiding here at borough sessions, and I am happy to tell you that I have to repeat my congratulations."

James Dodd, who had taken a farm in the County Sligo under circumstances objected to by the Riverstown branch of the United Irish League and afterward surrendered it, and in whose interest the police, under Superintendent Lacey, assaulted a number of the people, including Mr. Nannetti, M. P., in Blessington street on Whit Sunday, has sent a letter to the Inns Quay ward, repudiating and condemning the action of the Castle and the police.

The United Irish League of Derry have dealt promptly and properly with the Nationalist corporators who without a protest permitted the corporators to propose an expenditure of $2,000 in connection with the decoration of the city on the occasion of the coronation. Only four of the sixteen Nationalists in the corporation put in an appearance at the special meeting called for the purpose, and of the four who attended only one made a spirited protest against the proposal to use the city rates for the glorification of the King. The Justin McCarthy and the South Ward branches of the United Irish League have called upon the cautious Councilors to resign the posts to which they were elected on Nationalist principles. If there are some craven Nationalists in Derry, there are also overwhelming numbers who are straight and uncompromising.

The local government elections in Dublin were extremely satisfactory all round from the Nationalist point of view. Perhaps the most notable result was that in the two wards of Clontarf, which was the stronghold of Unionism. A few weeks ago Alderman Gibson declared at a coronation meeting in the Rotunda that, thank goodness, Clontarf would for many a day be a thorn in the side of the city and corporation. Alderman Gibson was relegated to a back seat by the electors of the East ward, who had the audacity to supplant himself and his Unionist colleague by two Nationalists. Something similar took place in the West ward, where two Nationalists were also returned and one Unionist. There is very great consternation in Lord Ardilaun's township. In Arran Quay the United Irish League candidates have simply swept the field, while in Inns Quay and other wards the candidates put forward by the United Irish League were also well to the fore.

After the savage sentences being imposed on the five brave Nationalists at Roscrea quite recently by a brace of Removables, the treatment they were subjected to by the police authorities was both cowardly and inhuman. The prisoners were detained in the court house about two hours after their sentence (varying from six to three months) being passed. They were driven to Ballybophy railway station, a distance of twelve miles, on outside cars, under a regular downpour of rain. When the prisoners were about to be removed from Roscrea they asked to have their overcoats brought to them, but the officer in charge sternly refused their request. The five brave young men looked upon their imprisonment as a token of pride and honor, for as the cars left Roscrea they all joined in the singing of "God Save Ireland." They informed some friends who followed them to Ballybophy that they were wet to the skin. They were delayed at the Limerick Junction for several hours in this terrible condition, and it was not until the small hours of the morning they arrived in Clonmel. It was a cold, rainy night, and it told pretty heavily on some of them for several days after.

In Ballinacoff court house, about four miles from Boyle, the prosecution against eleven members of the United Irish League opened on Tuesday. The coercion court was constituted as follows: Messrs. F. B. Henu, R. M., and William Jones, R. M. The defendants, who live in the neighborhood of Ballinacoff, County Sligo, were charged with having taken part in an unlawful assembly and with having unlawfully and tumultuously assembled together for the purpose of wrongfully and unlawfully using intimidation towards one John Smyth, one James Smyth and one Martin Smyth. The little court house was practically filled with crows of officials, while outside were placed a number of policemen. The removables, in giving their decisions, said the meeting was a perfectly legal one up to the time of the shouting at Smyth. After then it was an illegal assembly. They dismissed the cases against John Brennan, John Coen, Thomas O'Gara and John O'Gara, of Ballinacoff. But John Sheridan, Michael Condon, Dominick Buoye and John O'Gara, of Carrickmahorna, and Henry MacDermott, should be imprisoned until the sum of $25 each and one of $50. The defendants intimated, in reply to Removable Henn, that they would not give bail, and were sent to prison. Great indignation is felt in the district at the decision. The defendants are respectable young men, and the prosecution is regarded as a punishment for their membership of the League.

EVERY YEAR.

"You are growing old," they tell us Every year;
"You are more alone," they tell us Every year;
You can win no new affection, Every year;
You have only recollection, Every year;
Deeper sorrow and dejection, Every year.
There come new cares and sorrows Every year;
Darker days and darker sorrows Every year;
The ghosts of dead loves haunt us, Every year;
The ghosts of changed friends taunt us, Every year;
And disappointments daunt us Every year.
Too true! Life's shores are shifting Every year;
And we are seaward drifting Every year;
Old places changing fret us, Every year;
The living more forget us, Every year;
There are fewer to regret us Every year.
But the truer life draws nigher Every year;
And its Morning Star climbs higher Every year;
Earth's hold on us grows slighter, Every year;
And the heavy burden lighter, Every year;
And the Dawn immortal brighter Every year.

STORYETTS.

Two young doctors, with a young lady between them, were seated to dinner.
"I think," remarked one doctor, "we are well served for dinner."
"How so?" replied the other.
"Because we have a duck between us," was the reply.
"Ah, yes," replied the young lady, "and I am between two quacks."

A local chemist was called up recently by the ringing of the night bell. Hurrying down, he found a damsel at the door.
"What do you want, miss?" "Oh, I'm going to a breakfast party tomorrow and I'm out of rouge. Can you let me have any?" The chemist was nearly swearing at her. However, he controlled himself, and merely remarked: "I am afraid, miss, I haven't enough in stock to cover a cheek like yours." And then he closed the door and returned to his just slumber.

One day Mr. Moran, a land agent in the West of Ireland, met a countryman, and having heard of his marriage, saluted him with:

"Well, Pat, so you have taken to yourself a wife?"

"Yes, yer honor," said Pat touching his hat, "I have."

"Well," said Mr. Moran, looking comically at him, "here I am and I can get no one to take me, and I feel very lonely sometimes."

"I think I can put yer honor in the way," said Pat with a confidential look.

"How, Pat?"

"Do as I did. Go in a strange place, where you are not known."

A sixth-grade pupil at one of the schools was asked to write an essay on "Coal." This was the result:

"Coal differs from most other articles of merchandise, for it is no sooner delivered to the buyer than it goes to the cellar.
"A ton of coal makes twenty hundred-weight; but coal ordered for delivery by the railway companies makes many thousands wait.
"Coal in the fire is alight; but the barge that brings it up the river is a lighter.
"Bad coal is like a bad husband—smokes, often goes out and does not keep the pot boiling."

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

All the divisions meet this week. Tom Dolan has reason to feel elated over the result of his field day suggestions.

Every Irishman and woman should make preparations for the great field day in August.

Division 8 of Buffalo is arranging for a great summer night festival, to take place July 16 at the ball park in that city.

Don't forget the initiation next Thursday night. All those who have proposed candidates should accompany them to the hall.

The divisions of Somersworth and Rochester, N. H., will hold a big union picnic on July 4. A committee of thirty are making the arrangements.

The Entertainment Committee of Division 2 have left nothing undone that would add to the enjoyment of next Thursday night's proceedings.

Hibernianism is reported making rapid progress in New Hampshire. Even in the small city of Portsmouth the division expects to soon have 200 members.

The assessment called to defray the expenses of State President Shine to the national and the State convention was allowed by Division 3 Monday night.

The most readable letter appearing in the last issue of the National Hibernian was that of our efficient County Secretary, William T. Meehan. Others might well follow his example.

One of the questions to be considered at the next national convention will be that of establishing and maintaining an A. O. H. home for the relief of sick and indigent members of the order.

The Hall Board meets Monday night next at the residence of County President Keenan. There will be business of importance to be acted upon, and every member should make an earnest effort to be present.

State Secretary Coleman will soon have the list of Irish sports. Already there are a number of entries. Roger Nobility was the first name received. His record almost equals that of Flanagan, the world famous hammer thrower.

Division 3 has no one on the sick list. Lawrence Mackey makes a good presiding officer. He dispatched the business of Division 3 so rapidly that nothing remained unfinished when the County Board assembled Monday night.

President Meehan announced that at least forty candidates should present themselves to receive the degrees next Thursday night. It is the duty of every Hibernian in Louisville to attend that meeting and give their newly elected brothers a welcome they will never forget.

At Portsmouth, N. H., the Hibernians accepted an invitation from the Grand Army to participate in the Decoration day exercises. They turned out 130 strong, and the Chaplain, Rev. Father Finnegan, and other prominent members were given a conspicuous place in the parade. Everybody was highly pleased with the showing made.

Division 1 of Joliet, Ill., initiated 300 new members into the order on June 1. The National President, John T. Keating, of Chicago, and the National Secretary, James P. Bree, of New Haven, Conn., conducted the ceremonies. Delegations from the ten divisions of Chicago attended and joined with the local division in the work of the order.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians of Nashua, N. H., have in process of erection a building to be known as the A. O. H. building of that place, which will cost when completed in the neighborhood of $40,000. The building will be dedicated on or about July 1 and Hibernians from all parts of the country are invited to attend. State President John J. Sullivan of New Hampshire lives in Nashua and is President of the building committee.

The active work going on in the ranks of the Ancient Order of Hibernians warrants the belief that the coming convention of the order in Denver will be a grand success. It is not merely the members of the order, but all Irishmen, all Catholics, in fact all the people of Denver who are interested in this coming event. The Ancient Order of Hibernians will bring together in this city a representative body of men from all sections of the United States, says the Denver Catholic. Denver and Colorado want to show themselves worthy of such a gathering. Even if they were not otherwise interested, pride would induce an effort to equal any former convention of the order. But besides civic pride there is back of it the admiration for that which the order represents. The Hibernians in a marked manner represent the aspirations and achievements of the Irish race.

When they assemble the life work of an aspiring race is brought to our attention. Not only the past but the future comes before us. How can the result be anything but a success?

DON'TS FOR MOTHERS.

Don't keep nagging your boy.
Don't treat your boy as a hardened criminal if you discover him in sin.
Don't be above apologizing to your boy if occasion arises. He will honor you for it.

Don't shut him entirely out of the confidential talks concerning home, business and neighborhood affairs, but teach him to respect the confidence.

Don't have a thing in the house too good for him to enjoy and share with you, and don't make him use the back stairs in order to save the front hall carpet.

Don't deny your boy the healthful, restraining influence of plenty of outdoor sports and athletics. There is a whole sermon in the phrase "Muscular Christianity."

AMERICAN CARDINALS.

Predicted That Three Will Be Named This Year.

The New York Sun's Rome correspondent cables that it has been decided to defer until November the appointment of the Archbishop of New York. Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn appears to have been dropped in consequence of representations from the American Episcopate that he is not a desirable successor to the late Archbishop Corrigan. The names of three candidates are now before the Pope. They are Coadjutor Bishop Farley, Monsignor Mooney and Father Colton. The appointment is regarded at the Vatican as one of exceptional importance, as the new Archbishop will be simultaneously elevated to the Cardinalate in accordance with opinions recently expressed by the Pope that all great metropolitan dioceses ought to be governed by a Cardinal.

The Pope on one occasion in conversation with several members of the Sacred College who objected to giving the United States more than one Cardinal said that the New York diocese contained over 3,000,000 Catholics and was therefore the most populous diocese in the world. The Sun's Vatican correspondent has good reasons for predicting that before the end of the year the United States will have three Cardinals.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Excellent dish cloths or cleaning cloths may be made from old flour or salt bags. Rip the bags and wash thoroughly, then cut into the desired size and hem.

The secret of always having boiled potato light is not to allow the lid to be removed from the kettle while boiling. It is the cold air striking the dough that makes it heavy.

Iron embroideries on a soft flannel, with the wrong side of the embroidery up. All muslin gowns or shirt waists should also be ironed on the wrong side whenever possible.

Cheese sandwiches are always in order to serve with salad. Grate any cheese and rub it to a paste with butter, spread the bread, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cut into strips.

Smoke-grimed glass globes should be soaked in warm soda water. Then add a few drops of ammonia and wash them well with a soapy flannel, rinse in clean water and dry with a soft linen cloth.

A slice of raw potato kept conveniently at hand near the kitchen sink and rubbed well over the stained spots will remove many stains from the hands during the day without resorting to strong acids.

To remove old wall paper put into a pail of hot water a quart of flower paste, and having stirred it well, apply it to the wall. Being thick, this will not dry quickly, but will saturate the paper, which may then be easily scraped off.

When buying a stair carpet get an extra yard and fold in a piece at each end. If you do this you will be able to move the carpet sometimes higher, sometimes lower, and by this means you will have it worn evenly all over, and will not have the edges of the stairs looking frayed and shabby, while parts of the carpet remain untrod and fresh.

COL. LYNCH'S ACT.

The following news throws new light upon Col. Arthur Lynch's arrest:

Col. Lynch gets little sympathy from the Irish party, the members of which were disgusted by his letter to the Speaker of the House of Commons apologizing for the part he took in the Boer struggle. The Irish party knows nothing of his plans or motives in challenging arrest and regards his action with some doubt. It has been suggested that he was in communication with the British Government before he arrived.

"Unless he has some positive assurance of pardon undoubtedly he will get ten years' imprisonment from any English Judge. As he was fully aware of this, his surrender here at best was foolhardy. His friends hint that he can prove he was a regularly naturalized burgher at the time he participated in the war. In that case prosecution would lapse, but the election for Galway would be declared void."

THE STANDING JEST.

Louis Mann is spending his time away from home now. You see, he had a fine old time-piece in the hall, hanging on a nail. His wife said he deliberately loosened that nail. However that may be, his mother-in-law one day rushed into the drawing-room in a state of great excitement.

"Oh, dear—oh, dearie me!" she cried. "That heavy, horrid old clock has just fallen with a terrible crash on the very spot where I was standing only a moment before!"
Louis was quite cool and collected. But he murmured absent-mindedly: "I always said that that clock was slow!"

CARDOME.

The Commencement Exercises Largely Attended and Appreciated.

Beautiful Programme Admirably Rendered by the Pupils.

Instructive Essays, Bright Recitations and Delightful Music.

THERE WERE FIVE GRADUATES

[Special Letter to the Kentucky Irish American.]

GEORGETOWN, June 16.—On Thursday, June 12, the twenty-seventh annual commencement of Cardome, Convent of the Visitation, Georgetown, Ky., took place before an exceedingly large and appreciative audience of friends and patrons of the school. An ideal, delightful June day which served to bring out and exhibit in its most pleasing form the magnificent scenery which surrounds for miles in every direction this historic school added charm and beauty to the occasion. From all parts of Kentucky and many Southern States large crowds of fair and beautiful women and handsome men came to witness the rendition of one of the most excellent programmes that the writer has ever been fortunate enough to be present at. The essays were bright and sparkling, and this feature of the commencement, which usually is so tiresome, was universally enjoyed by the audience. The five young ladies who graduated with the highest honors acquitted themselves in the most creditable manner and fully evinced that they were competent to assume the arduous duties of a business life should it become necessary for them to do so. The numerous instrumental selections scattered throughout the excellently arranged programme were splendidly and profitably rendered by Misses May England, Mary Murray, Mary Kenna, Katherine Sterling, Maymie Hillenmeyer, May and Pearl Robinson, Mary Rassenfoss, May Belle Barlow, Elma Schoeberth, Ellen O'Connell, Katherine Welch, Marietta Proctor, Maria Trimble, Verna Knox and Mary Grant. The vocal numbers sung by Misses Mary Kenna, Katherine Sterling, Mary Belle Barlow, May and Pearl Robinson, Mary Rassenfoss, Annie Gorey were equal, if not superior, to those heard in grand opera and elicited much applause from a delighted audience. An essay entitled "The Drama" was delivered by Miss Mary Kenna. It was splendid in every detail of construction and delivery and elicited much applause. An essay upon "China" was delivered by Miss Mary Murray and proved exceedingly interesting to those who have followed the history of the Chinese, and in point of composition was excellent. The delivery was also good and received much applause. "Rapid Transit and Communication" was an admirably composed and excellently delivered essay by Miss Maymie Hillenmeyer. Bright and sparkling from start to finish, it fairly captivated the audience. Miss Hillenmeyer happily selected for the subject of her essay matters of vital interest to every one, and the composition of the essay went to show that the fair composer had devoted long hours of careful study and hard work in its construction. The liberal applause which greeted the close of the essay signified that the audience was highly pleased. "Child Love," an essay by Miss Katherine Sterling, was indeed splendidly composed and admirably delivered. It was exceedingly interesting and attended by liberal applause. The last essay on the programme was "Greek Ideals, Christian Heroism," by Miss Elizabeth Blakely. This essay, though exceedingly deep, was very interesting and doubtless required much study and labor in its construction. The subject discussed was admirably handled and the delivery was excellent in every detail. The applause was liberal.

The following are the graduates for 1902: Misses Mary Slevin Kenna, of Charleston, W. Va.; Mary Ursula Murray, of London, Ohio; Maymie Berenice Hillenmeyer, of Lexington; Katherine Paul Sterling, of Carlisle, and Elizabeth Ashton Blakely, of Covington. Mother Ambrose, from New York City, who was elected Mother Superior of Cardome for the next three years, has arrived and taken charge. The new buildings are rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy about the middle of August. The dedication ceremonies, which will be conducted by the Right Rev. Bishop C. P. Maes, upon his return from Rome, will probably take place early in September.

The year just closed has been the most successful in the history of the school, and next year will doubtless exceed all previous ones, as Cardome's fame as a splendid institution of learning for young ladies has extended throughout the South and West. D. J. M.

FOR THE WORKING GIRL.

It hardly seems possible that in this day and age it should be necessary to say anything about how the girl who works for a living should gown herself, but every now and then one sees a vision in some little clerk or secretary that makes one eager to protest against the wearing of finery to an office. The girl who overdresses when she goes to business to help keep the wolf from the door is usually young, very young, and she has ideas about brightening up the dingy workaday world, and becoming a sunbeam to the unfortunate men who are plodding along the road to fortune in her office. With this end in view, she puts a bow of ribbon in her elaborate coiffure, dons a silk waist and a trailing skirt, and proceeds on her mission, thoroughly satisfied with herself. En route she meets many older and more worldly wise women attired in clumsy shoes, short skirts and plain shirt waists, but she regards these pitifully as grubs who lack aesthetic sense, and continues her butterfly existence until age or experience or her employer leads her to the knowledge that pretty garments are not for wear during business hours, but should be reserved for evenings at home, when there are social friends to be impressed.

HINTS ON STYLE.

Crepe de chine, white cloth and Japanese silk made good contrasts for the ecru tints, Mechlin lace being especially suitable for the latter.

Linings of a contrasting color serve to produce the shot effect in many of the gowns—a simple matter this season with much sheer thin fabrics.

Foulards are still very much in favor, however, and altogether too pretty and serviceable to be discarded for any innovation in the silk department.

The three-founced skirt, the top flounce beginning at the waist, is another novel style which is prettily carried out in silk muslin, but you see it also in veiling.

Dark colored foulards are rather ousted by the checked silks, some of which are trimmed very prettily with stitched bands of plain taffeta or rows of narrow velvet ribbon.

White weddings have been the fashion for some time now, but the prettiest effects are made by having some scheme of color for the bridesmaid's gown. The latest thing is mousseline in a pale soft shade of green or gauze made over the same color.

Some of the latest thin gowns have side plaited skirt and a deep band of lace around the hem or tucks at the hem and incrustations of lace above. Ivory white batiste very sheer in quality is made up in this way and so are the veilings which are as sheer and thin as the name indicates.

Double skirts are seen among the new thin gowns, especially among the embroidered batistes. A pretty design edges both parts of the skirts and covers the front of the blouse, the back, which is in narrow yoke form, and the top of the sleeves, which are also double and in bell shape, falling over little puffed under sleeve.

Grass lawns in shades of strong color have blossomed out anew since the contrasting linings have come into vogue, as the color serves to make them much more becoming. The newest grass lawns are printed in soft tinted shadowy flowers, very much like the muslins, the coloring being especially effective on the ecru tints.

Beautiful white gowns are made of English embroidered batiste, plain batiste and lace in combination, and a pretty idea for the batiste is to make it over white chiffon, which softens the effect. Shaped flounces of batiste embroidered on the edges, trim one dainty model, covering a wide shaped flounce which is beaded with medallions of lace.

A pretty feature this season is the deep pelerine collar of lace and the bouffant sleeves, ending a little below the elbow or at the waist in a deep transparent cuff of lace. Hip yokes of lace with an entire lace bodice and upper sleeve of lace are the pretty finish of some of the chiffon and Lousine silk gowns. With a band of lace at the hem and a pelisse skirt and a tulle veil trimmed with applique motifs of lace, this is a charming bridal gown.

BRILLIANT CEREMONY.

On Wednesday morning St. Boniface church was well filled to witness the marriage of Miss Lillian A. Kooper and Henry J. Reuff. At 9 o'clock the wedding party entered the church, and as they reached the altar they were met by the Rev. Father Paul AM, who celebrated the nuptial mass and performed the marriage ceremony. The lovely bride was attired in a handsome traveling costume and the scene during the ceremony was a brilliant one. The ushers were Dr. G. Phil Beutel, Jr., Philip Reuff, Clem Fangman and August Hoemer, of Cincinnati. After a sumptuous wedding feast, attended only by relatives, the newly wedded pair left for a short honeymoon trip, and upon their return will be at home at 1200 Christy avenue.

BANNER OUTING.

The annual outing and excursion of the members of St. Paul's parish will take place this year on Monday, July 14, at Fern Grove, all the boats having been secured for that date. Those heretofore given were perhaps the largest and most enjoyable that have left the city, hundreds going specially because of the excellent dinner served in the shade under the trees by the ladies. Father York's great popularity is another big factor, his thousands of friends throughout the city taking advantage of this occasion to meet the zealous priest and the members of his congregation. The programme of amusements will appear in another issue.

A Kerry man in the London Spectator gives the following samples of the absurdities arising out of the extreme simplicity of some Irish folk: A young man came to confess to an Irish priest in London whose experiences of the humors of his fellow-countrymen would fill a book. "Well, my man," said the priest, "and how do you earn your living?" "I'm an acrobat, your reverence." The priest was nonplussed. "I'll show ye what I mean in a brace of shakes," said the penitent, and in a moment was turning himself inside out in the most approved acrobatic fashion in and out of the pews. An old woman who had followed him to confession looked on horrified. "When it comes to my turn, father," she gasped, "for the love of God don't put a penance on me like that. It 'ud be the death of me!" This is the longest day of the year.

OUTRAGE.

Pat McHugh, M. P., Committed to Jail For Three Months.

National Leaguers Holding Big Meetings Throughout Ireland.

Promoting the Formation of a German-Hibernian Alliance.

KING WILL NOT GO TO CORK

Cablegrams received from Dublin say several enthusiastic meetings of Irish National Leaguers were held last week in the important cities and towns of Ireland, at which resolutions were adopted with a view to promoting the formation of a German-Hibernian alliance. This movement, which originated recently in Washington at a meeting of representatives of the German-American alliance in connection with the petition to Congress in favor of the cause of the Boers, does not seem to be affected by the fact of the war having ended. Irish Nationalist leaders point out that such an organization will be eagerly welcomed by the German people as a means of opposing the Anglophile tendencies of a certain class of Americans. It is argued that German-Americans and Irish-Americans, acting together, can keep the pro-British element in the United States "far in the rear."

Patrick A. McHugh, National member of Parliament of the North division of Leitrim and proprietor of the Sligo Champion, who owing to his failure to appear in answer to a summons was arrested June 15, was on Wednesday committed to jail for three months for contempt of court. Mr. McHugh, among a number of members of the United Irish League, is charged with conspiracy and intimidation in connection with the complaint of a tenant of a farm from which a member of the League had been evicted. During his trial for alleged conspiracy he asked the Magistrates for their names. The Chairman remarked that McHugh was only asking questions in order to cause obstruction. Thereupon McHugh called the Chairman a "damned liar" and refused to apologize, telling the Magistrates that he never "expressed regrets to sweeps of their kind."

The news comes from Cork that the Executive Committee of the Cork International Exhibition has abandoned all hope that King Edward will be a visitor. His Majesty was expected to attend the exhibition some time in the autumn, but recent advances from Buckingham Palace indicate that the King's other pressing engagements will make this impossible. Lord Mayor Edward Fitzgerald has announced that among the notable visitors to the exhibition whose positive acceptance has been received are the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire. Lord Lieutenant and Countess Cadogan will also attend.

At a meeting of the Irish members of the House of Commons held in London on Tuesday afternoon resolutions to the effect that the Irish Nationalists, as a protest against the "misgovernment of their country," resolved to take no part in the present coronation ceremonies, and that the Irish party be summoned to meet in Dublin on the day of King Edward's coronation to take in consideration the condition of Ireland, were unanimously adopted.

SECRET OF ENJOYMENT.

Many households fail to realize even a moderate ideal of happiness, not from a lack of love, or for a want of moral principle, but simply from lack of ideas. The husband's occupation may bring him into contact with many persons, but his thoughts and reflections get into a rut. The wife, for one reason or another, gets into following a very narrow round. The result is that neither of them bring to each other or into the home any new ideas or fresh impulses, and so the common life becomes stale, flat and unprofitable. There is one wholesome corrective to this, and that is, hunt for ideas, just for the sake of brightening up other people in the home. If you hear a good story, keep it in mind. If you learn of an interesting fact or a novel argument, treasure it for the sake of the good it will do the home circle. The reason why conversation in the home so often descends to the level of nagging, is that people lack ideas and outlook. They do not say pleasant or bright or interesting things, not because they are dull or ill-natured, but because there is nothing in their minds to work on. The wheels whirl and buzz, but the clock doesn't strike.

NEXT BRATWURST FEST.

The Little Casino Club, a social and charitable organization of that section of the city known as California, have secured Eisenmenger's Garden, Thirty-fourth and Market streets, for their next bratwurst fest, which takes place during the afternoon and evening on Sunday, July 27. All those given by these gentlemen, who are all well known, have been greatly enjoyed by large numbers of people.

RUSH'S NEW STAND.

Pat Rush, for years one of the best known saloonkeepers in the eastern part of the city, but for some time past out of business, has opened an exchange at Tenth and Oak streets, where he will be pleased to have his friends call to see him. Mr. Rush is a big-hearted little Irishman, always jolly and ready to help a deservng cause, and that he will succeed in his new location seems assured.
